Club News & Notes

The January meeting was devoted to the annual mid-winter business meeting of the board.

Membership: Club membership stands at a total of 478, with 330 being adults.

Lodge use: Usage seems to be up slightly for December. Financially we are paying the bills, but need to build up reserves for long-term projects. Fundraising events this year have been very helpful, and Terry McGinn has volunteered to run the lottery again.

Club by-laws: There was discussion about amending article VI of the bylaws to change the club fiscal year to July 1—June 30. This would coincide more with how the club is run with the installation of new officers and allow most dues money collected to occur within one fiscal year. This will need to be formally noticed in the newsletter prior to a vote of the general membership.

Newsletter / Web site: Anyone who has information they feel of interest to the club membership is encouraged to submit it either to the newsletter editor (Mike Fernandez) or webmaster (Lydia Hill). Members are encouraged to sign up for the Yahoo list service thru the Buck Ridge web site. If you follow the instructions, it is pretty easy.

Going to the Lodge? Keep up on local events with the Deerfield Valley News—Southern Vermont's only Independent Newspaper.

Upcoming Events in February:

Skiers set to defy gravity at Harris Hill competition

The annual Harris Hill Ski Jumping Competition, presented by Pepsi, is slated for Saturday and Sunday, February 19 and 20.

Winter film tour makes a stop at Mount Snow Resort

Dan Egan's "Wild World of Winter Film Tour 2011" comes to Mount Snow at the Sundance Lodge Tuesday, February 22, at 7:30 pm. The "Wild World of Winter Film" is an adventure-filled evening with ski and snowboard footage from New England and around the world. The evening features some of the best extreme and big mountain athletes on the planet in an hour-and-a-half presentation.

Join the Buck Ridge Listserv

One of the best ways to communicate within our ski club is to join our Buck Ridge Yahoo Group. Just click on the Yahoo Groups icon on the Buck Ridge Ski Club Web site (buckridgeskiclub.org). This will take you to a page that gives you step-by-step instructions on how to join and guidelines in using the group listserv. Please join today and become an informed Buck Ridger. Get the latest newsletter and trip sign up postings.

As individuals you can arrange carpools, look for a ski partner for a day in the Poconos or a weekend at the Lodge. Once approved, you can set user options for things such as delivery of individual posts or consolidation as a daily digest to reduce your inbox clutter. And, like other email notices you get, if it does not work for you, you can always un-join. Try it today!

Deadline for articles for the Slopes and Trails is the 15th of the month. Send submissions to:

Council News

The EPSC Council Day and Council Cup has moved to a new day, new location, new NASTAR course!

EPSC Council Day and Council Cup at Bear Creek Mountain Resort Sunday, March 6, 2011

The EPSC Council Day, featuring the Council Cup, will be on Sunday, March 6th, at Bear Creek Mountain Resort. Bring the family for skiing and/or racing (racers must be 21 with proof of age, mandatory). Racing will take place on the Timberline trail. This is a day of fun for both skiers and non-skiers.

Registration will start at 7:30 am with the first race to take off at 9:30 am. There will be the Bear Creek Continental Breakfast and the All American lunch, beer, soda and water. Lots of laughs and lots of fun! There will also be door prizes! Don't forget to stay for the awards ceremony!

Cost for this fun filled day is $55.00 if you are racing, $23 if you are only skiing. Beer, soda and water included. Check the EPSC website for details and registration forms. (www.easternpaskicouncil.org/); questions you can contact Nanci Burkey (610-269-8025) or nlburkey@yahoo.com (subject line should read EPSC Council Day & Council Race).

STRUCK BY A THUNDERBOLT

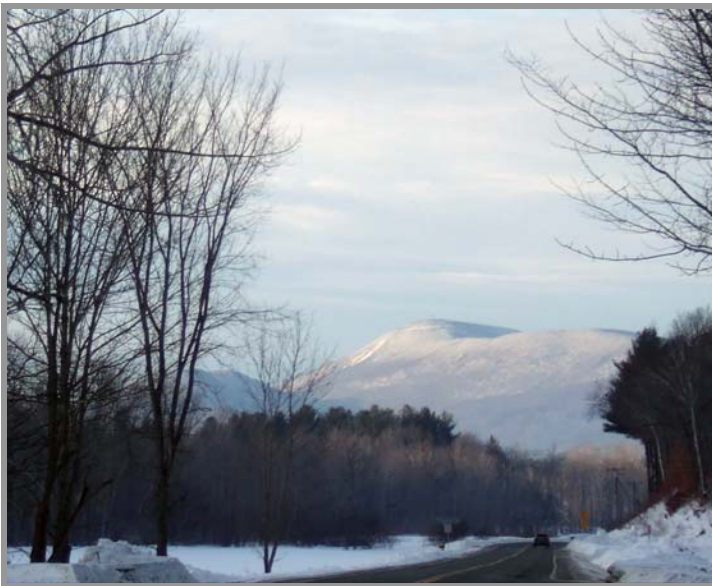

Ski Tips 'n Tales

JANUARY JUNKET 2011

Looking for a new experience at the Lodge, and never liking to ski the resorts on Saturdays, I ventured south in early February to Mount Greylock, at 3,491' the highest point in Massachusetts, to check out the Thunderbolt Ski Trail.

Constructed in 1934, the Thunderbolt is one of the few "Class A" ski trails built by the CCC in New England that still exists much as it was in the 1930's. The Class A trails had to have a minimum vertical drop of 2000' and at least one section where the slope angle was 35 degrees or more. While the CCC constructed many ski trails in the days before the advent of lifts, few met the Class A standard. Those that did—including the Taft Trail at Cannon, Nose Dive at Stowe, and Wildcat (at Wildcat, of course), have all been incorporated into modern downhill ski areas and modified to some extent. But the 'Bolt exists much as it was originally cut, and still provides as much challenge now as it did back when skiers used wooden boards and leather boots.

Its about 40 miles to the trailhead on the west side of Adams, MA, an easy hour drive from the Lodge via Rt 9 west from Wilmington and then south on Rt 8. As you approach the state line, the first views of Mt. Greylock are rather striking:

Arriving at the trailhead, one can skin or snowshoe for two miles directly to the summit or take a longer three-mile route (the Bellows trail) that is a bit less taxing on the ascent. Once up top, there is a welcoming stone warming hut, complete with wood stove, to let your prepare for your descent.

While the "official" trail is only 1.6 miles long with 2100' of vertical, it ends in the woods and you still have to ski to your car. So once you start down you are looking at two miles and almost 2500 vertical feet of skiing ahead of you, and it never lets you forget it. The trail is either steep, narrow, or steep and narrow the entire way. Few runs anywhere in the northeast can compare!

The January Junket of 2011 was attended by 12 enthusiastic skiers. There were folks from 6 different states, to wit, Connecticut, Delaware, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Vermont. Most of these folks have some connection back to Delaware County, PA, but their dispersal is a record of 21st century life in Buck Ridge.

Marve and I (VT) skied at Stratton on Friday. On Saturday we did Mount Snow, skiing with Carol and Paul Pitts (PA) for the day. It was great to ski with another couple; we don't get that kind of chance very often up here in the Northeastern Kingdom. On Sunday, we went to Mount Snow, but it was a cross between a zoo and a circus in the parking lot. We moved on, and ended up at Grout Pond. We went around the pond with Marve on X-country skis and me on snow shoes. The price was right and we wore ourselves out very nicely.

Susan Moriarty (CT) and daughter, Kathleen, brought a friend, Serena. They took their guest down Bear Trap, and she loved it. She said "I only fell down 12 times. It was great!" Ah, to be young again.

We met Darcy Canu (MA). She is a bundle of enthusiasm. Mary Jane Fagan and Marianne Cinaglia represented Delaware. Mike Fernandez and Wayne Michaelchuck (NJ) came in Saturday, completing the week end list.

*Keith Richards
Newport, Vermont*

If you have time to notice, you will see that all the major features have been named— Big Schuss, The Bumps, Needles Eye - and are noted by small blue wooden signs along the way.

Skiing the Thunderbolt is skiing as it was first developed. As challenging as the trail is for modern skiers, we can only imagine the skill of those early ski racers who set the course record that still stands today: 2 minutes and 8 seconds by Per Klippgen in the 1948 Eastern Downhill Championship Race.

So if you are up for a challenge, check out the Thunderbolt. Its not that far a drive from the Lodge, and if the conditions are right its not to be missed! You can find more information on the trail at this web site: www.thunderboltskirun.com.
