CLUB NEWS & NOTES

LODGE UPDATE

Holiday Social: At the October meeting it was decided to have our Holiday Social at the Riverwinds center in West Deptford, New Jersey this year. The Riverwinds Restaurant is situated overlooking the Delaware River across from the Philadelphia Airport, and the views are quite exceptional. Wicks' Ski Shop has agreed to put on their annual fashion show, so come out and enjoy the view of Philadelphia from across the waters! The registration form is on page six; contact Mel Stiles with any questions.

Membership Renewals: While the time has past for early renewal discounts, we still want you to renew! We have a great ski season planned, and some exciting changes at the Woodbridge Lodge.

Users of our Woodbridge Lodge know that the fireplace had been decommissioned for the past few years. In addition to needing some major safety upgrades, the fireplace, while adding that ambience that only a crackling fire can, was a major source of heat loss – any warmth it generated was literally sucked up the chimney. But it was missed... after all, what's the Lodge without a fire to dream by?

Many options to address this were discussed, and in the end it was decided to go with a gas fireplace insert. While certainly not as dramatic as a crackling fire, it is much safer, cleaner, and far more heat efficient. In fact, it actually produces as much heat as the existing wall-mounted propane heaters. And since it draws combustion air from beneath the lodge, the heated air inside stays there instead of going up the flue.

Terry McGinn wonders what he's doing up there

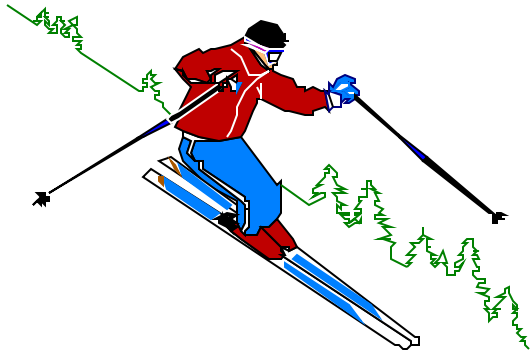

Getting the gas fireplace up and running for the coming ski season was a major goal of this fall's lodge work party, and thanks to the efforts of Terry McGinn and his old high school friend Joe and their training as union tradesmen we succeeded. Of course, there is a lot more to getting the Lodge in shape than a fireplace, and for that

ACTIVITIES & TRIPS

SKIING

A new ski season will soon be here - hope your skis are sharp and ready to go! Our ski schedule is out on page 4. In addition to our scheduled lodge trips, members can take advantage of our western trip to Mt Bachelor, extended eastern trips to Bolton Valley and Sugarloaf, and the EPSC Winter Carnival in Quebec, Canada. Sign-ups for Bolton and Sugarloaf are in this issue; check the website or the last newsletter for Bachelor and the Winter Carnival.

Our extended eastern trip, which has been to Sunday River for the past few years, will move to Bolton Valley this year where we will be staying slopeside. Bolton Valley is in the heart of the central Vermont ski belt, an area known for its abundant snow, and has the highest base elevation of any Vermont ski area. Bolton is also known for its extensive cross-country and lift-served backcountry ski terrain, so if you lean towards self-powered skiing this trip is not to be missed!

Our weekend cross-country trip to the Woodbridge Lodge the end of January is also intended to get new members interested in the Lodge. Non-members attending this trip will get special member rates for their stay. If you know of someone who may be interested, get them to sign up!

PADDLING

Kerron Barnes is a long time member of the Phila Canoe Club and a paddler on the Lehigh since 1970. He is looking for any information club members may have on the history of one of the landmarks on the river known as Wilhoite's Rock.

He has been in touch with Larry Barrett, and asks that any old-time members with information they may be able to provide contact him at kibarnes@frontiernet.net.

As he now has it, there were three canoes involved, one being a rental. One was wrecked and left pinned on the rock, a second was damaged and a third capsized.

HIKING

FALL HIKING SCHEDULE 2012

Our Wednesday short hike schedule is winding down, but due to popular demand two more have been added on November 28 and December 19. The additions are to new locations in New Jersey; the December hike will be on the banks of the Maurice River in an area known for bald eagle sightings.

The meeting place for the Pennsylvania hikes remains the same - Granite Run Mall on Baltimore Pike (Route 1) between Routes 352 and 452. Going west from the Media area on Route 1 or Baltimore Pike, turn right at the second stop light after these two roads merge together. (You will see McDonalds on the right and the large Rothman Institute on your left.) At the first cross road turn right and then left. We meet on the far side of this cross road. We leave promptly at 9:30 a.m. Bring your lunch and wear comfortable shoes and socks.

Contact Mel Stiles at 609-230-5046 for location of the New Jersey meeting place. We're pushing the season here - remember to bring something warm to wear!

- November 14 Darlington Trail (PA)
- November 21 Ridley Creek State Park (PA)
- November 28 Wenonah Woods (NJ)
- December 19 Nature Conservancy @ Millville Bluffs (NJ)

we can thank Marjorie Coar. Marge showed up late Friday night and charged through the multitude of tasks that always need to be done at a work party. Anytime one of us looked like we might be thinking of a breather, Marge was there to point out something else we could do. Thanks, Marge! Sunday evening saw the first ceremonial lighting of the fireplace, which was toasted to by all. To celebrate success, we adjourned that night to a campfire down in the parking lot since the living room was still in a state disarray. And while we managed to complete the tasks we set out to, like any work party you always return home with a new list of things to be done next year.

Use of the fireplace couldn't be easier. It is controlled by the thermostat for the north wall-mounted heater (the north heater is the one to your right when entering the living room, and the thermostat is on the other side of the living room against the kitchen wall). At the thermostat there is now a selector switch labeled for fireplace or heater. Put the selector switch to fireplace and it will light; after it has been on a short while you will hear an automatic fan come on that blows warm air out the front of the unit. A word of caution – the fireplace WILL get hot! Do not touch it! When you are done with the fireplace, switch back to the heater and the fireplace will go out. Note that the automatic fan may continue to blow for a short while.

Finished product... when the mortar dries it will blend right in!

If for some reason the fireplace does NOT come on, it is probably because the wall thermostat is set lower than the room temperature. Raise the thermostat setting and the fireplace will come on, but please remember to lower the thermostat and switch back to the wall heater when retiring for the night. At the end of your stay, make sure the switch is set to the wall heater and both thermostats set to off as usual.

I'm sure you will enjoy this new addition to our Lodge – now let the snow fly!

In Memoriam...

Bon Voyage Irene

We are sorry to note that Irene Maggs passed away on October 29th after an extended bout with cancer. Irene, 77, was a member of BRSC for over 50 years. She and her husband, Bill, who still resides in Lansdale, and two daughters, Susan and Jill, often joined the Mini Ridgers in yearly camping trips to Assateague. She was an energetic participant in just about any action outdoor activity. Her favorites were skiing, biking, camping, canoeing, kayaking and hiking. When not engaged in these or gardening, she avidly sought out unique, if not odd, items at a variety of flea markets, antique and second hand outlets. Not one to let adversity get her down, Irene kept vigorously active with swimming and biking until very recently. As was noted at her memorial service, "Irene, dear friend, thank you for sharing your adventuresome spirit with us over all these years. Your love of life was contagious and your friendship will be a gift that lasts forever in our hearts."

BOLTON VALLEY SKI RESORT
MARCH 13 THRU MARCH 17 (WED-SUN) 2013
$ 400.00 PP/DO

JOIN BUCK RIDGE SKI CLUB ON OUR FIRST EVER TRIP TO BOLTON VALLEY, VERMONT IN THE HEART OF THE GREEN MOUNTAINS

Bolton Valley is tucked high in the Green Mountains between Burlington and Montpelier, Vermont. At a little over 1600’ of vertical, it’s not the size of some of Vermont’s mega-resorts but the high base elevation (the highest in Vermont) gives it some of the best snow conditions this side of Jay Peak!

Trip Includes: Four nights slope-side lodging, four and a half day lift ticket, four breakfasts, four dinners, and access to the sports and fitness center.

Getting There: This is a “get-there-on-your-own trip”, but there are a lot of options. If you drive, consider car-pooling. Its location about 2-1/2 hours north of the Lodge make it a prime candidate for combining with a stop before or after at our Lodge. Arrangements can also be made for arrival by AMTRAK. Waterbury, the nearest station, is about 15 minutes from Bolton Valley. The Vermonter, which we used to take on our Jay Peak trip from Philadelphia, departs Philadelphia at 10 am and arrives in Waterbury at 8.15 pm. Bolton is very good to work with should you need to extend your stay to make travel arrangements.

Downhill Skiing: Bolton has an abundance of great blue trails for the intermediate skier, and is very beginner friendly as well. Looking for more of a challenge? Bolton has you covered. They are known for their variety gladed steeps, ranging in difficulty from wide open to tight and gnarly. A hidden gem!

Cross Country Skiing: Bolton Valley has a reputation for some of the best cross-country and back-country skiing in the east. In addition to an extensive network of cross-country trails, the Catamount Trail crosses through the area and provides access to an extensive network of back-country trails extending north to Stowe. Those interested in only cross-country or back-country skiing can take a discount of $40; single-ride lift tickets can be purchased if you only want one ride to access the higher back-country for the day. If you are a skinny-skier, this is the trip for you!

Deadline and Refunds: Full payment due by January 1, 2013; no refunds after that date unless you find a replacement. Last date for signup is February 1, 2013.

An early winter for some!

In the aftermath of Hurricane Sandy, I ventured south to West Virginia to check in on my dad's place near Elkins. Much of the area was without power for an extended period, but fortunately no real damage. What damage there was came not from wind and rain but SNOW, and lots of it - up to 36"! I managed to get a couple of early-season turns in, and saw Halloween decorations in a new light. Lets hope it is a harbinger of things to come in New England!

Mt Bachelor, Bend, and You... A Trip for all Reasons

This year's western trip will be to Mount Bachelor, Oregon. Mount Bachelor is located outside the town of Bend on the eastern slope of the Cascade Mountains. While the western Cascades are known for a heavier, wetter snow, the eastern slopes are in the high desert that turns that snow to powder! The mountain sprawls 360 degrees from the summit, with something for every level of skier. If you find that a little intimidating, don't worry - you can have your own Mountain Ambassador! We will be met by an Ambassador host upon arrival to get oriented with a tour. They are available to ski with us in small groups all week if desired, and they really know the mountain.

But the trip is more than Mount Bachelor. Since the ski area is situated entirely within National Forest, it means there is no on-mountain lodging. We will be staying in the town of Bend, a high desert town several thousand feet lower than Mount Bachelor. This means that while it may be snowing on the mountain temperatures can be moderate in Bend, allowing you to enjoy the fine dining and shopping activities, all FREE OF SALES TAX, that Bend has to offer.

Want more? Other outdoor adventures abound. Hiking at Smith Rock, lava cave tours, or snowshoe excursions to Crater Lake National Park can all be arranged. And did I hear that Bend has more micro-breweries per capita than any other town in the nation? What are you waiting for...get your registration in now!

One thing you may want to consider for the trip is taking your own boots and renting skis. The flights in to the local airport are on small regional jets, which can lead to separation from your oversize items on occasion. Mt Bachelor rents some excellent skis at reasonable prices. They will even let you switch skis if you want to try out something different!
